

State of Minnesota Emerging Leaders Institute

The verified public leadership program is the State of Minnesota Emerging Leaders Institute, administered by Minnesota Management and Budget. Public evidence does not document a DHS-owned program by that name. Check eligibility and the current cycle at the source.

Content

What it is: a State leadership development program for employees, administered by Minnesota Management and Budget.

Why it is here: leadership pathways should connect to programs that exist. Correcting the record matters; an earlier draft described a DHS-owned Emerging Leaders program that public evidence does not support.

How to use it: check eligibility, timing, and the nomination process at the source. Supervisors can use sponsorship to make sure people from underrepresented communities know about it and are nominated.
